Marc Ravenscroft Grant Program	The Marc Ravenscroft Grant is to help the poor students aiming for higher education in America. Marc Ravenscroft knows the tuition fees in any private college in the US offering 4-year courses are exorbitant, amounting to an average of $34,740 per semester. As far as the public universities are concerned, they make in-state students pay about $9,970, while out-of-state candidates would have to pay around $25,620. Each year, annual tuition fees increase by about 2.4 percent at private institutions and 3.2 percent at public universities in the United States. As higher education fees consistently increase, the Marc Ravenscroft Grant would help students afford higher education and chase their dreams. WiseGeek Recent Immigrants Scholarship	The WiseGeek Recent Immigrants Scholarship is a $500 scholarship for students who have immigrated to the United States on or after January 1, 2010. America is home to many immigrants who fuel our nation's growth and development. In 2018, more than 63% of foreign-born adults were employed compared to about 60% of native adults, among them brilliant thinkers, inventors, innovators, and incredibly hard-working individuals. Despite this, immigrants are often targeted or stigmatized, creating a divide between those born abroad and those born in the country. To remove societal barriers and provide immigrants with equal means to succeed, there must be continuous discussion and distinct opportunities for immigrants all over the country.
